According to Wizarding World, their names are Godric Gryffindor, Rowena Ravenclaw, Helga Hufflepuff, and Salazar Slytherin. As the Filler Hats tell us, their reason for doing so is because they have a 'year of selfsame, to create the best magic school in the world', and when they do, each creates their own home to represent the personality and proficiency they want to cultivate. Gryffindor students contained courage and chivalry; Ravenclaw, intelligence and intelligence; Hufflepuff, loyalty and fair play; and Slytherin, cunning and cunning values. The massive and complex school is hidden from the eyes of muggles, located somewhere in the Scottish Highlands.
